

Short-Film Screenings For Refugee Awareness Month

Learn the plight of a refugee.

Come watch four short-film screenings in honor of Refugee Awareness Month and World Refugee Day on June 20, 2014 in the CDSS auditorium.

Films will play from 11:30am to 1:00pm.

Light refreshments will be served.

“Lending a hand to refugees in America” – CBS Special Report

Sometimes, taking a wrong turn can change your life. That's exactly what happened to Luma Mufleh one day while getting lost on her way home stumbling upon a group of refugee children living in a suburb of Atlanta.

“Human Trafficking: Modern-day Slavery in America” – CNN Special Report

A special report on African girls brought from Africa to New Jersey enslaved as hair braiders 7 days a week, sometimes 14+ hours a day.

“New Boy” – a short film by Zanzibar Films

New Boy is a short film about the new kid in class who looks different – he's from Rwanda – and when the other kids start to tease him, it calls up memories of a violent past.

“Echoes” – a short film by Rob Brown

Echoes is a short film about a sex trafficker named Anya who is faced with a moral dilemma when she discovers that a young girl that she is trafficking (from Lithuania to London) is pregnant.
